

Text Structure Assessment

True or False

1. Text structures are ways in which a text is organized to convey content.
TRUE FALSE

Correct feedback: Yes, this answer is true. Text structures are ways in which a text is organized to convey content.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! This answer is true. Text structures are ways in which a text is organized to convey content. Please review the vocabulary module.

2. Informational text is structured in the same as narrative text. TRUE FALSE

Correct feedback: Yes, this answer is false. Informational text is NOT structured in the same as narrative text.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! This answer is false. Informational text is NOT structured in the same as narrative text. Please review the vocabulary module.

3. Students who receive instruction in identifying text structures tend to have better comprehension. TRUE FALSE

Correct feedback: Yes, this answer is true. Students who receive instruction in identifying text structures tend to have better comprehension.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! This answer is true. Students who receive instruction in identifying text structures tend to have better comprehension. Please review the vocabulary module.

4. Graphic organizers are an effective way to teach text structures. TRUE FALSE

Correct feedback: Yes, this answer is true. Graphic organizers are an effective way to teach text structures.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! This answer is true. Graphic organizers are an effective way to teach text structures. Please review the vocabulary module.

Multiple Choice

5. Which of the following is not an example of an informational text feature?

- a. Table of contents
- b. Stanzas
- c. Cutaways
- d. Labels

Correct feedback: Yes, stanzas are not an example of informational text feature.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! Stanzas are not an example of informational text feature. Please review the vocabulary module.

6. Which informational text structure is an author using when he/she lists items or events in numerical or chronological order?
- a. Description
 - b. Sequence
 - c. Comparison
 - d. Cause and effect

Correct feedback: Yes, sequence is an informational text structure an author is using when he/she lists items or events in numerical or chronological order.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! Sequence is an informational text structure an author is using when he/she lists items or events in numerical or chronological order. Please review the vocabulary module.

7. The cue words, “for example” and “characteristics are” signal which informational text structure?
- a. Description
 - b. Comparison
 - c. Cause and effect
 - d. Problem and solution

Correct feedback: Yes, the cue words, “for example” and “characteristics are” signal the description informational text structure.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! The cue words, “for example” and “characteristics are” signal the description informational text structure. Please review the vocabulary module.

8. Commonly used patterns for informational text structures include all except:
- a. sequence
 - b. description
 - c. expository
 - d. cause and effect

Correct feedback: Yes, expository is not an example of a commonly used informational text structure.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! Expository is not an example of a commonly used informational text structure. Please review the vocabulary module.

Fill in the Blank

9. The common narrative text features include _____, _____, _____, _____, and _____.

Correct feedback: Yes, the common narrative text features include characters, setting, plot, theme, and point of view.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! The common narrative text features include characters, setting, plot, theme, and point of view. Please review the vocabulary module.

10. Name at least one effective instructional strategy for teaching narrative text structures.

Correct feedback: Yes, an effective instructional strategy for teaching narrative text structures may include story maps, graphic organizers, probable passages, and story impressions.

Incorrect feedback: Nice try! An effective instructional strategy for teaching narrative text structures may include story maps, graphic organizers, probable passages, and story impressions. Please review the vocabulary module.